FRANCE AND HAGUE CONFERENCE

"NO REDUCTION WHATEVER."

PARIS, June 13.

The British reply to M. Poincaré's memorandum as regards the Hague conference has evoked a long statement by the French government noting with satisfaction certain points therein but generally maintaining the French standpoint. The statement reiterates the necessity of the powers presenting a pre-agreed plan to the Russians.

It considers that the procedure suggested by Britain is equivalent to the withdrawal of the Russian memorandum. It recognises the Russian requisitioning right but contends that the restitution of property should be the rule and compensation the exception seeing that compensation must inevitably be illusory. It asserts that the system proposed by the French will be accepted by the Soviets if put to them unanimously and advocates the banishment of all political discussion at the Hague meeting. It refuses to accept forthwith any reduction whatever in French war claims and re-demands effective guarantees for pre-war loans.

PRICE OF STEEL REDUCED.

LONDON, June 12.

As a sequel to the recent cut in railway rates and the fall of wages the associated steelmakers of Great Britain have reduced the price of steelplates and angles sections by ten shillings a ton.

SCOTCH BANK ROBBERY.

SENTENCES HANDED OUT.

LONDON, June 12.

In the Glasgow High Court Shepherd was sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude in connection with the Granton Bank robbery on January 20 while Snowden and Canty were each awarded six months' imprisonment. The woman accused and Moore were discharged. The youth Stewart whose commission led to the arrest of his accomplices had previously been sentenced to eight years' penal servitude.

NOT ALLOWED TO LAND.

AUSTRALIANS BAN CHICAGO PARSON.

SYDNEY, June 12.

The federal authorities have refused permission to the Reverend Mr. Ormon, Anglican minister to the Syrian community of Chicago to land in Australia. Mr. Ormon intended to lecture on the sufferings of Syrians and to support the view that the existence of disabilities in respect of property domiciled Indians in the Commonwealth was incongruous in view of the recognised status of Indians in Mesopotamia.

PETROLEUM POOL FORMED.

LONDON, June 12.

A market report states that the Royal Dutch Petroleum Coy., has disposed of one and a quarter million shares of its holding in Shell transport to a London finance house which has formed a pool. Their disposal sale price to participants in the pool is £4 11.6 a share. It is stated that the sale indicates no alteration in the constitution of the combine.

COUNTRY CRICKET.

LONDON, June 12.

Playing at Lord's Middlesex beat Somerset by an innings and 235 runs. For the victors Hendren made 167 not out and Crutchley 106. Lancashire won by an innings and 108 runs at Manchester from Northampton. For Lancashire R. Tyldesley made 105 and Cook, in the second innings, took seven wickets for 23 runs.

GERMANY REVOLUTIONARY LEADER DEAD.

BERLIN, June 12.

Herr Kapp, the leader of the 1920 rebellion, died as the result of an eye complaint at Leipzig where he was awaiting trial.

THE PARI-MUTUEL.

ITS INVENTOR DEAD.

The Home papers contain news of the death of M. Joseph Oller, who is said to have been the inventor of the pari-mutuel system of betting. Born in Spain in 1839 of French parentage M. Oller, before reaching the age of 30, had founded various betting agencies, and ultimately started a pari-mutuel system by means of a caravan which went from racecourse to racecourse. The minimum stake accepted was two francs, and the great thing about these caravans was that they had the reputation of always paying their debts. These seem to have been the authentic start of the pari-mutuel system, and naturally as usually happens in a case of that sort, the authorities soon regarded it with disfavour, so much so that in 1875 they suppressed it. Twelve years later the French Government recognized that it had done a foolish thing, and realizing that there was much money in it for the State, started pari-mutuels under official auspices. So they have gone on until the system has made a big impression on the whole racing world. Even in England, where the bookie is supreme, on the racecourse, there are pari-mutuels, conducted under the auspices of sporting clubs. Sometimes it is worked by a machine sometimes not, but it is the same system all the time and hundreds of thousands of people must pay unconscious tribute to an enterprising soul.—N.O.D.N.

SEA BATTLE.

HOW WE LEARNED THE GERMAN CODE.

Interesting revelations are made regarding British sources of information in the early part of the war in an article which has just appeared in the German Morine Rundschau dealing with the Dogger Bank action of January 24, 1915. The article is written by the officer who is compiling the fourth Sea portion of the German Naval History of the War.

Mr. Nelson Young, in his book, "With the Battle-Cruisers," has shown that very definite news of this German raid, which resulted in the sinking of the Blücher, reached the British Admiralty in time to allow of steps being taken to intercept the Germans. In intelligent reader of that book must have guessed that this information came from some source other than agents in Holland and Germany. It is now stated that when the German light cruiser Magdeburg was sunk in the Baltic on August 26, 1914, the German codebooks, which were thrown overboard when it was seen that the ship might fall into the hands of the Russians, were recovered by the Russians, and thus, every message made by the German Fleet by wireless could be read by the Allies.

The German Admiralty appear to have been unaware of this find by the Allies, and to have assumed that British agents were responsible for the news of this raid and of other German enterprises. How long this particular source of information remained available cannot be known until further particulars come to light, but it was interesting to know what bearing the possession of it had on the last events of the war.

KWONG WAH HOSPITAL.

FREE DISTRIBUTION OF MEDICINE.

At a meeting held at the Tung Wah Hospital on Sunday it was announced that a lady had given $40,000 for the dispensing of free Chinese medicine at the Kwong Wah Hospital. A sum of at least $100,000 was needed before this project could be put into effect. A subscription committee was appointed and $10,000 was subscribed by those present at the meeting.

INSPIRED CONSIDERATIONS.

Happy should that man be to whom pain is a subject academic. It will be said that there are no men so fortunate, and the denial will match with what we all deem to be the probability. Yet how account for the incorrigible optimist who described pain as a blessing in disguise, arguing that it is a benevolent warning of wrong conditions that without it would escape attention? Such a view is less easy to appreciate than the logic of those pessimists who regarded the mortification of the flesh as a necessary step to the health of the soul, and an elixir as an advertisement of the glory of God. It is harder even than the Asiatic theory of algedonics which sees pains and the causes of pains as punishment for errors in a previous existence. As a benevolent design it would seem to have difficulty to prove title, at least to the satisfaction of a man with a whilow, or of a woman watching her child's sufferings.

from tooth trouble. Something less cruel, and easily more effective and helpful, might have been devised by any human inventor. For philosophers like Fechner, who actually prairie pain because it increases pleasure by contrast, we have only the indulgent contempt we give to the intellect of the schoolboy thinker, who claimed that pins have saved thousands of lives, "by people not swallowing them." It is true that human nature knows no experience sweeter than the cessation or truce of pain after prolonged suffering; but that is not in praise of pain. It is the same thing as "not swallowing them." It is like proclaiming that the peacefulness of life is proved by Death. A cheap cyclopedia published for the masses remarks that "the pain of a whilow is of the most excruciating character." It is not often that in such publications we encounter so good an example of "le mot juste." The word "excruciate" is, on the face of it, an allusion to torture on the cross. A "racking" pain conveys the same idea, pang on pang, acute, multiplied, a chain of pains. Fortunately, the human nervous system, like an electric accumulator, can be overcharged. If the pain will not stop, consciousness will. A sort of numbness, of stupor, of lethargy, is apt to come to the super-tortured animal. The bloodhound pain is still on the fugitive's trail, relentless, sure; but for a brief space he does not realize it, for from very weariness of fight sleep has come. The analogy is too weak to stand long. The whilow victim grins horribly at the idea of sleep bringing him relief. The whilow, more than can be, is a man who has been through a lot of swirling clocks there, at hourly intervals, and in imagination enjoys the satisfaction of break-

LADY MOTORIST FINED.

Sergeant Hallam summoned Mrs. Morrison before Magistrate Fraser at traffic time this morning, for having driven motor car No. 117 at an excessive speed which she failed to reduce when passing a signal on the Repulse Bay Road; and for failing to produce her driver's licence when required to do so.

Mrs. Morrison: I guess I am guilty on both charges. Sergeant Hallam said Mrs. Morrison drove at fully 35 miles per hour between Repulse Bay and Aberdeen. Mrs. Morrison said she could not say how fast she was going because she was talking whilst driving. She thought she was possibly driving at over 10 miles per hour, but 35 miles was a little to excessive an estimate, as she did not have the strength to drive at that speed, especially as the car was a big one.

OUR UNIVERSITY.

ITS FINANCIAL POSITION.

NEED FOR ECONOMY.

The University of Hongkong has just issued its accounts and balance sheet for the period from September 1 to December 31, 1921.

Sir William Brunyate, the Vice-Chancellor in a note accompanying the University accounts addressed to His Excellency the Governor and to the members of the Finance Committee, Council and Court says:—

In my Budget Note for the period September-December, 1921 I insisted that neither the receipts nor the expenditure of that period could be usefully separated from those of the preceding academic year and that only as at 31st December, 1921, could we regard our financial reorganization as completed or arrived at a clear statement of our financial position. My then estimate of the position as at 1st December anticipated a balance on current account of approximately $71,000 plus some $47,000 due from the central Chinese Government or Provincial Governments the payment of which in the immediate future would seem doubtful. The actual position as disclosed by the accounts now submitted shows a balance of $88,068, together with a reserve for bad and doubtful debts of $45,000, the latter exceeding in amount the total of debts the payment of which in due course is in any way in doubt. This position is probably more satisfactory than was at all hoped for a year ago. It means that with the exercise of rigid economy we ought to be able to carry on for a period to be measured in years without actually running into debt.

The current balance is however, entirely due to the fact that portion of the recent Government grant is not earmarked for investment; it in no way means that there is any surplus on current working, whether to make good existing and admitted deficiencies, or to provide for the expansion which increasing numbers will render urgently necessary in the near future.

It will be remembered that in the Budget estimates the items "University Examination fees" and "Matriculation and Local Examination fees" were left blank on both sides of the account, on the ground that the recent change in the fees for our local examinations rendered any accurate estimate impossible: it was, however, stated that those examinations would be conducted at a loss. The net cost of University examination is now shown at $881,773, while there is a loss on Matriculation and Local Examination fees of $4,050.35. The last mentioned item is rather alarmingly heavy, and is to be attributed to the increased number of candidates and to the excessive cost of stationery. The loss provided for in the 1922 Budget is $3,500 only, and, as a further increase in the number of candidates is to be expected, it will be necessary to consider how our loss can be minimised. I should be very reluctant to recommend a further increase of fees at the present moment.

Other expenses not provided for in the Budget for the period under review include:—(a) $7,719 for Hostel Repairs, which, as stated in the Note accompanying last year's accounts, were intended to be charged against last year and the carrying forward of which increased the nominal surplus as at 31st August; (b) $2,442 for Surveying, Chemical and Physical Equipment, met out of additional grants from the Finance Committee: (c) $2,137 for additional offices for the Vice-Chancellor's Lodge, met in the same way; (d) $1,738 additional expenses of the Vice-Chancellor's more extended tour in the North, and $552 in connection with our representation at the University Congress in London; and (e) $999 for the purchase of furniture, being for the most part the desks necessary for the increased number of candidates in the Local Examinations.

As the estimated surplus for the period under review was $10,097 only, the additional expenses above enumerated could not have been met unless our receipts had also exceeded our estimate. The principal items in excess are $5,837 under the heading "Interest" due in part to favourable investment, in part to gain on exchange on our sterling investments and in part to under-estimation: $3,600 on tuition fees, due to the number of students entering for the bye-term September to December exceeding our very conservative estimate: $423 on Hostel profits; and $1,606 profit on bookstore. The item last mentioned is due not to raising the prices at which books have been sold but to good fortune in being able to dispose of a certain amount of stock which had been written off as obsolete.

Allowing for the special credits above mentioned, our estimate of expenditure under different abstracts have been in no case exceeded, save

SHANGHAI MAN'S DISAPPEARANCE.

A TELEGRAM MYSTERY.

"The Times" of May 3 contained the following advertisement:—"Bonnington, J. H., who was a passenger on s.s. 'Andre Lebon' from Shanghai to London, arrived at Hotel Belgravia Victoria, S.W., on December 13, 1921 and mysteriously disappeared from the hotel on December 27, leaving all his luggage behind. Anyone knowing the fate or whereabouts of the above are requested to communicate immediately with the Manager, Hotel Belgravia, Victoria, S.W. Shanghai papers, please copy."

Mr. Bonnington came to Shanghai last year in the service of the Tramway Co., but was only here for about four months, when he had to go into hospital and at the end of the year was sent home. The London Evening News tells his story as follows:

Mr. Bonnington, the Evening News was told was not seen again after he had walked out of the hotel on the day after Boxing Day. In his luggage, a considerable quantity of which he left behind him, have been found 10 Chinese idols, carved in a rich black wood like ebony and inlaid with very thin silver wire. These idols, which are thought to be of considerable value, stand about 12 inches high.

The manager of the hotel expressed the opinion that Mr. Bonnington had either met with foul play or had had an accident. What has become of this man, who carried about with him Chinese idols, and who is thought to have met with foul play? There is not the slightest trace as to his whereabouts. His description has been circulated by Scotland Yard, but without result. He is described as being 32 years old, tall, with dark hair, going bald on the forehead, and comparatively well dressed. He appeared to have no friends, and during his fortnight's stay at the hotel was always alone.

On arrival at the hotel he filled in his name on the registration form in the usual manner, and described himself as a secretary. He mis-spelled the word as "secretary." As his home and business address he gave a name which might be taken for Consul, but which was spelt "Consulate." The address where he lived before coming to England was given as 12a Queens Gardens, Shanghai. His luggage and the contents would more than cover the amount of his hotel bill, which he left without settling.

About a week before he left he received a telegram handed in at a post office at Victoria, which read:—"Transaction complete, $95.—Senator." Had this anything to do with his disappearance? Was it a code? This is the mystery that has to be solved.—N. C. Daily News.

SINGAPORE WEDDING.

MR. R. V. MEYER AND MISS
B. EMANUEL.

A pretty and interesting wedding was solemnised at the Chinese El Synagogue, Orley Rise, yesterday afternoon says the Straits Times of June 5, in the nuptials of Miss Rachel Emanuel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Emanuel, of Singapore, and Mr. R. V. Meyer, of the firm of Messrs. Lazarus, of Hongkong and Singapore.

The bride looked a charming picture in a beautiful dress of crepe lace over satin, richly embroidered with sprays of orange blossom. She wore a beautifully embroidered veil, with a wreath of orange blossom and a shower bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss Vera Emanuel, sister of the bride, and Miss Esther Frankel, who were becomingly attired in dresses of white silk tulle. The flower girls, Miss Rachel Edin and Miss Janis Widdup, were similarly dressed. The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of sage blue with hat to match.

The bride was given away by her father. Mr. I. Storck was best man. There was a very large attendance of friends at the ceremony and afterwards at the reception at The Grosvenor where the best man proposed the health of the happy couple and the bridegroom suitably responded.

Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left for Katong, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride's going away dress was of brown brocade with georgette with hat to match. Numerous beautiful presents were received.

for a sum of $305 on electric light and power, and $184 on wiring and maintenance. The net result is an excess of income over expenditure of $2,577.43, which, added to the surplus of $84,490.83, as at August 31st, gives the total $87,068.26 above mentioned.

ONE MISSIONARY KIDNAPPED.

—SHANGHAI, June 13.

A message from Kaifeng on June 9 states that the Governor of Honan received a telegram from some missionaries at Lushan saying that bandits looted the city mission and property was destroyed. One unnamed missionary has been taken away for ransom and the lives of other missionaries are endangered. They ask the Governor to send two thousand soldiers to their help immediately, placing responsibility for their protection upon the Governor. The only mission at Lushan is a Norwegian Lutheran one of which a missionary named Karstad is the local head. As the telegram was signed "Lushan missionaries" it is assumed that the bandits seized Karstad.—Reuter.

NEW B. I. BOAT.

TO RELIEVE "EURYLUS."

Telegraphic information has been received from the Managing Agents of the B.I. Apar Co., Calcutta, that the Twin Screw s.s. "Egra" 5108 tons register indicated H.P. 7000, capable of maintaining 16 knots will be ready in Singapore about the 23rd June to relieve the Company's s.s. "Eurylus" on the Singapore, Hongkong run.

The "Egra" is one of the Company's up-to-date steamers carrying 46 First class and 39 2nd Saloon passengers, all accommodated amidship with up-to-date Dining, Music and Smoking Rooms—the first Saloon sumptuously fitted up with green crocodile and the second saloon with red leather admirably suited for the tropics. The 3rd class passengers are carried on three specially ventilated and shaded decks.

This vessel was built to run the Mails between Rangoon and Madras where she justly became a special favourite and it is expected she will enhance her popularity on the China-Straits berth.

MATTERS CHINESE.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
MEETS.

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce met yesterday, under the chairmanship of Mr. Li Po-kwai.

It was stated that the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in Macao had asked the local chamber to assist in settling the trouble in that port. It was decided that as the Canton Government had started negotiations with the Macao authorities it would be inexpedient to interfere.

Regarding a letter from the Shing Sai public hospital in Canton protesting against an order forbidding them to receive patients suffering from contagious diseases, the Chamber suggested that the Canton Government should be requested to allot another place for the accommodation of patients so suffering.

The vegetable dealers of Canton protested against the action of those in Hongkong of deducting a commission from the sales of vegetables. The Chamber has invited both parties to meet and discuss the matter.

A suggestion was made that the Hon. Mr. Ng Hon Tex should be entertained by the Chamber in honour of his appointment to the Legislative Council. This was not accepted as a similar entertainment had not been given to the Hon. Mr. Chou Shon-on and it would be "shaving his eyebrows."

A letter was read from the Prince of Wales thanking the Chamber for photographs of the Taiping Theatre and decorations.

BILLARDS.

V.R.C. TOURNEY.

The latest results in the Victoria Recreation Club's billiards handicap tournament are:—

2nd ROUND.
C. Earnshaw (—200) defeated L. G. Remedios (—125). Final scores: Earnshaw, 250; Remedios, 111. The winner's highest break was 45.
P. Yvanovich (—300) beat E. Remedios (—150). Final scores: Yvanovich, 250; Remedios, 153. The winner's highest break was 26.

SEMI-FINAL.
R. A. Law (—200) defeated R. Earnshaw (—100). Final scores: Law, 250; Earnshaw, 235. The winner's highest break was 32.

The s.s. "President Lincoln" brought 624 tons of canned goods, groceries and general cargo for Hongkong. During the voyage a Chinese stevedore passenger died of heart failure.

YACHT BOYS SUMMONED.

MOORING DIFFICULTIES EXPLAINED.

"AZUMA" AND "IRENE" CONCERNED.

A case of considerable interest to Yacht owners was heard by Commander C. W. Beckwith in the Marine Court this morning.

The yacht boys of the yachts "Azuma" and "Irene" were summoned for contravening the Regulations prohibiting any vessel from lying in Causeway Bay Harbour Refuge without permission in writing from the Harbour Master on Saturday the 3rd inst.

Both boys pleaded guilty.

Mr. P. M. Hodgson, who appeared not only as the owner of the yacht "Azuma" but on behalf of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club asked that the summonses be dismissed. He considered that although a breach of the Regulations might have been committed it was very largely due to the fact that the Praya East Reclamation Scheme had driven all yachts away from their former anchorage off A King's slipway at Wantai. The position of the mooring of the yachts had become a very serious matter, which was engaging the earnest attention of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club Committee. There were over 40 yachts to be considered although most of them were at present laid up for the summer and space for mooring them would have to be found later. Owing to the Government having allowed A King to establish his yard and slipway actually in Causeway Bay Harbour of Refuge, within a prohibited area, it had placed yacht owners in a difficult position as for very many years all the yachts had moored off A King's slipway. This not only afforded good protection to a large number of valuable boats but enabled the boat boys to arrange for their food and to keep in touch with their boats and their owners.

At the present moment there was absolutely no safe anchorage and a Sub-Committee of the Yacht Club had been appointed to go into the whole matter with the Harbour Master.

Mr. R. Sutherland, the owner of the "Irene," said that whilst fully endorsing all Mr. Hodgson had said he submitted that the circumstances in connection with the launch strike necessitated his yacht going into the Harbour of Refuge and he had not been able to arrange to have her towed out again. At the present moment she was anchored in a dangerous position amongst the "Dolphins" off Wantai and submitted that with the prevailing heavy winds it was necessary to seek shelter in the absence of any safe place to moor the boat.

In dismissing both summonses the Magistrate stated that he was certainly of opinion that it was not safe to moor off Wantai and the whole matter would have to be gone into. Until some scheme was arrived at he was prepared to issue permits to these yachts to moor in the Refuge. In the present cases he thought there were extenuating circumstances and he dismissed the summonses.

The coxswain of the launch "Isa" charged with a similar offence, was discharged with a caution.

CHINESE ENGAGEMENT.

FIANCE NOT UP TO SPECIFICATIONS.

COURT GRANTS RELEASE.

A case of divorce was brought up before the Police Commissioner in Hongkong district several days ago say the Canton Times.

The complainant, a lady of 26 declared at the Police Court that through go-betweens, she was engaged to a man named Mo Chat three years ago, when the man paid her the sum of $2 as engagement present. She said that she did not know the character of the man then except that the go-betweens had highly praised him. Afterwards she was informed that her fiancé was a gambler and an opium smoker. The marriage never took place. She said she was getting old every day and asked the authorities to grant her a release in order that she might select another husband. The Police Commissioner ordered the girl to return the engagement present to the man and released her from her contract.

Mr. F. W. Lee, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Canton, has resumed work.

The Citizens' Diplomatic Society of Canton has established an office in Kwang Yan Maloo. Each public organisation and labour guild may send one representative to its meetings.

LEAGUE TENNIS.

"A" DIVISION.

In the "A" Division, the L.R.C. still head the league undefeated and the destination of the shield will be settled if they can beat the C.R.C. next Saturday. The postponed match U.S.R.C. v Hongkong Club will be a very interesting fixture when it takes place. Club de Recreo are finding difficulty in raising a team on account of the trouble in Macao.

Queen's College and C.R.C. still lead with the same number of points. As the students scored a very pronounced victory over Craigengower 83-16 they will start favourites when they meet the L.R.C. a fortnight hence and the C.R.C. a week later. Civil Service scored their first win at the expense of the Police, who by the way, are the only team to have defeated the College boys.

THE MACAO AFFAIR.

A list of 40 labour unions which have been dissolved in accordance with the Government notification of May 30, is contained in the latest Official Gazette of Macao.

The Military Commandant offers in a notification published in the Gazette, a reward of $200 for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person who attempts to intimidate or induce peaceful citizens to leave the Colony, or impedes workmen or traders in the free exercise of their lawful avocations.

An announcement respecting the S. Domingos public market states that no advance orders for provisions will be taken unless it be from the military units, hospitals and charitable institutions. The Food Commission reports that eggs, vegetables, bananas and oranges are procurable. Potatoes are sold at 12 cents a pound.

HONGKONG YARN MARKET.

Messrs. Polshaws and Kowall, cotton and yarn brokers, of Hong Kong in a market circular issued yesterday state: Our yarn market has kept very unsettled owing to the increasingly embarrassing and acute political situation in China, which is so adversely affecting the entire trade.

During the early part of the interval a moderate business passed in 10s. and 12s. yarn of well-known marks, while the sudden decline in rupee exchange caused prices to advance $2 to $4 per bale and the foreign holders, realising these most uncertain conditions, seem anxious to part their stock at current rates, which has resulted in sales of 6,500 bales.

Under the present abnormal circumstances it is most difficult to form any definite idea even of the very near future of our market which remains quiet but steady at the close.

Unsold stocks 10,000 bales. Bargain 11,000 bales. Arrivals, 4,000 bales. Shanghai.—With constantly fluctuating prices business in local Mills, is reported to be on a fairly large scale, while there is very little doing in Indian Yarn.

Raw Cotton.—There is no stock of Bengal while 200 bales of Chinese have changed hands at $42 per picul. Quotations.—Bengal $32 to $34 per picul; Chinese $38 to $45 per picul.

The Jockey Club announces an extra Gymkhana for July 8. Entries close on June 27.

Mr. G. R. Haywood, solicitor, has moved his office to No. 4a, Des Voeux Road Central (second floor).

During the voyage of the s.s. "Gorleston" from Bombay, via Singapore, two deaths and two births occurred on board.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

STILL WITH US.

Hongkong still has its labour troubles. Enquiries this morning showed that no settlement has been reached on the demands of the rice workers. Just now very little rice is moving and sufficient "outside" labour is procurable to cope with the demand.

Restaurant keepers and employees are still wrangling over the matter of wages and perquisites. Some carpenters have gone back to work.

CHAUFFEURS' LUCKY ESCAPE.

CAR TOPPLES OVER EMBANKMENT.

A motor accident occurred above Stanley on Sunday afternoon when motor car No. 624 which was being driven empty to town, suddenly went out of control, and swerving to the left, toppled down the embankment until its progress was stopped by some trees on the hillside. The car, which was owned by the New World Garage, was damaged to the extent of some $500, and the driver received injuries which had to receive medical attention. The driver, who is in no serious danger as the result of his injuries, is unable to explain the accident, as the car is a new one and had behaved very well all the time he had driven it.

MONSTER REPTILE.

ENGLISH HUNTER'S STORY OF A FIND IN PATAGONIA.

Reports of the existence of an enormous prehistoric monster which frequents the lakes in the territory of Chubut, Patagonia, have been received by the authorities at the Buenos Aires Zoological Gardens, according to despatches that the New York papers. The creature is described as a pleiosaurian amphibian, hitherto believed to exist only in fossil form. Latest reports of the monster come from an Englishman named Sheffield, who states that while hunting in the Chubut region he discovered a trail of flattened vegetation indicating the passage of an animal of enormous dimensions. The track led to a lake, in which the hunter saw an animal with a colossal neck, resembling that of a swan, with a body shaped like a crocodile.

Professor Clementi Onelli, a director of the Buenos Aires Zoological Gardens, states that he is urging the Government of Argentina to despatch an expedition armed with harpoons to capture the creature. The pleiosaur is an extinct marine reptile of Europe and North America with four limbs developed as paddles for swimming, in addition to the long neck and crocodile-shaped body mentioned by the correspondent.

METHYLATED SPIRIT DRINKING.

Glasgow authorities are perturbed over the great increase in recent years in the drinking of methylated spirits. In the opinion of the City Presbytery of the Church of Scotland the evil calls for immediate measures to combat it. The Presbytery have resolved to direct the attention of the magistrates to the evil, and to urge the adoption of remedial measures. The number of persons apprehended in the city for drunkenness caused by the consumption of methylated spirits increased from 474 in 1920 to 647 in 1921, and police experience in the first three months of this year shows that the increase is continuing. One clergyman attributed the growth of the evil to money scarcity among the workers and the high price of whisky. He said a person could purchase for 3d sufficient methylated spirits to make him drunk.

WOMEN AND THE BAR.

Women in increasing numbers show a determination to qualify as barristers.

In the Easter term results of the Bar examination 21 were successful. Two of these, Miss L. M. Davies and Miss M. L. Ashworth, have passed the final examination. They will still doubtless have to keep the qualifying number of dining terms, which will postpone their call till the end of the year. Of even more interest is the fact that out of 72 students who passed in Roman law, only 3 were placed in Class I. All 3 were women. An English student for the Bar remarks: "An analysis of the pass list of the Easter term examination shows that of the 480 successful students (out of 684 entrants) 169 have names which are obviously not English."

A PROPHETIC ERROR.

The sudden death of a much respected member of the Chancery Junior Bar, Mr. Herbert Edw. Wright, recalls an incident in Mr. Justice Sargant's court which, though regarded at the time as humorous, now in the light of Mr. Wright's death appears to have been tragically prophetic. Mr. Wright was appearing for beneficiaries in a will case, and one of the documents referred to in the opinion having been given by "the Rev. Mr. Wright." "That," remarked the judge, "quoting the famous observation of Mark Twain in a similar situation, 'appears to be a gross exaggeration.'" Mr. Wright, whose death has followed so quickly, smilingly agreed.

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

MAN'S TERRIBLE STRUGGLE WITH CROCODILE.

Describing a man's terrible fight for life with a crocodile, a Queensland paper says:

Early yesterday morning Harry Summerfield, of Adelaide River, and his step brother left their home to look for horses. During the day they separated in order to make the search more thoroughly. Whilst standing under the shade of a bamboo tree, engaged in cutting a stick, about two yards from the edge of a lagoon, he was attacked without the slightest warning by a crocodile, which seized him by the right knee, and started to drag him into the lagoon. Then he commenced a fight for life, the like of which has rarely been known in the history of Australia. Lying partly across the head of the monster Summerfield began his almost superhuman task of fighting the crocodile with his bare hands, although the pain must have been well nigh unbearable. Summerfield kept his head, and stuck both his thumbs into the brute's eyes, forcing it to let go its hold on his knee. After being released he scrambled for the bank, but the crocodile, recovering his sight, seized him by the right arm, and again dragged him into the water. With his free hand Summerfield again attacked the crocodile's eye, and again he was released. The struggle for the bank again began, only to end once more in his being dragged back, the crocodile this time seizing his left arm, the animal's teeth going through the wrist. With his right leg badly lacerated and his right arm torn, Summerfield despaired of the struggle, but with a last effort he plunged the thumb of the injured right hand into the brute's eye, again forcing it to let go. This time Summerfield succeeded in getting out of the lagoon, and made for a fallen tree, a few feet from the water's edge, which on reaching, he toppled over, and lay there unconscious until he was found some hours later by his stepbrother, who had returned in search of him.

ROMAN RELIC.

WALL IN ANCIENT CITY CHURCH.

An interesting discovery has been made during the excavations on the site of a shop which was until recently occupied by a firm of silversmiths, between the porch of St. Peter's, Cornhill, and Gracechurch-street, London, E.C.

In the rear of the site is the northern wall of the church, and, as there are windows on this side, the shop could only be built so high as not to interfere with the light of the church. A piece of the Roman wall, eight to ten feet long and two feet high has been found passing through the present wall of the church at a slight angle. This interesting relic may possibly form part of the original church.

Notwithstanding the inscription on the brass tablet quoted by Stow, and now preserved in the vestry room of St. Peter's there is no reason to believe that that church was founded by a King Lucius, said to be the first Christian King of this land, in the year 175. He is stated in the tablet to have "reigned in this land after Brute 1245 years." "King Lucius" and "Brute" appear to be equally mythical and the earliest authentic record of St. Peter's, Cornhill is in 1298.

Although the Roman wall may have formed part of the original church, the fact that it is not in a line with the present church makes at least doubtful the assumption that it was.

BOWEL COMPLAINT IN CHILDREN.

During the summer months mothers should watch for any unnatural looseness of the child's bowels. When given a dose of medicine at this time, the mother may be deceived. The child's bowels may be loosened by the action of the medicine, but the child may be dependent upon it, and may be liable to a chronic condition.

HEIRESS ENGAGED.

MISS EDWINA ASHLEY AND LORD LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN.

The long-expected engagement of Lord Louis Mountbatten, younger son of the late Marquis of Milford Haven, to Miss Edwina Ashley, granddaughter and heiress of the late Sir Ernest Cassel, has now been announced. The wedding will probably take place in July.

Lord Louis Mountbatten is at present accompanying the Prince of Wales on his Eastern tour, acting as his Naval Aide-de-Camp. Miss Ashley is also in the East, where she has spent some weeks staying with Lord and Lady Reading, who were great friends of her grandfather. Lord Louis also visited the Viceroy's Lodge while he was in India with the Prince. Miss Ashley is expected to return to England during the first week in May.

Lord Louis Mountbatten, who will be 22 next summer, inherited his father's love of the sea, and was already a naval cadet when the war broke out in 1914. In 1916 he was gazetted as midshipman to the "Lion," Earl Beatty's flagship. When the Prince of Wales made his Empire tour in 1920 Lord Louis was appointed flag- lieutenant of the "Renown" for the tour. He is full of fun and good humour, in addition to being a zealous and capable officer.

Miss Edwina Ashley was born 20 years ago, the daughter of Col. Wilfred Ashley, who represents the Wyke division of Lancashire in the House of Commons, and his first wife, who was the only daughter of Sir Ernest Cassel. Her mother died in 1911.

Quite six feet tall, with gleaming fair hair, Miss Ashley has been a sport-loving girl from her earliest youth, and before she started on her trip to India she declared her intention of going tiger hunting. She was always a great favourite of Sir Ernest Cassel, and when he died, last September, and the provisions of his will were published, it was found that she had become one of the country's greatest heiresses.

RULES OF OLD JAPAN.

PEER RESIGNS BECAUSE SISTER ELOPED.

Count Yanigawara, a member of the House of Peers, has resigned his seat in the Upper House at the request of a deputation of Peers, who asked him to give up his Peerage on account of the misconduct of his sister Aki-ko Ito (White-Lotus), a cousin of the Emperor and the most talked of woman in Japan. In announcing his resignation Count Yanigawara stated that it was "in accordance with a conscientious observance of rules in vogue in Old Japan." Mrs. Aki-ko Ito (as reported in The Daily Mail on March 15) married a wealthy coal-owner of 48 when she was still in her teens. She alleged infidelity, and when her husband bought a geisha (dancing girl) and brought her to the same home, Mrs. Aki-ko Ito eloped with a young student.

Under the rules of Old Japan, the head of a family never escaped punishment when one of its members violated the laws of the country or of morals, and he was held responsible for the good behaviour of the whole family.

During the reign of the last Emperor, a case similar to that of Mrs. Aki-ko Ito would have been dealt with by the head of the family either with death or banishment to a monastery, and it was quite legal for him to take the law into his own hand, although he himself was not exonerated. If he belonged to the nobility or to the military class, promotion in rank would have been refused him probably for life, but with the introduction of the new regime under the present Emperor the old system of ethics was eliminated from the Civil Code.

Count Yanigawara, however, has authorised the statement, says the Kobe Herald, that in view of the fact that he has always been connected with questions in the House of Peers dealing with a stricter discipline among government officials, he feels that he is personally affected by the acts of his "erring sister." The absence of legal responsibility is overruled in his mind, he says by "loyalty to the sentiment that ruled the actions of his predecessors."

The blame, nevertheless, was put on his sister's shoulders, and a startling announcement was made that Aki-ko, who is now described as "this modern Japanese Sappho," had renounced the world and its ways, and after shaving her head and taking the Buddhist vows, had entered a monastery at Kyoto.

SIAMESE TWINS DEAD.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER DISPOSAL OF ESTATE.

Josefa and Rosa Blazek, the Siamese twins, died at Chicago on March 30. Dr. Benjamin Blakestone, principal surgeon of the West End Hospital, issued a bulletin to the effect that Josefa died at 2.25 that morning, and Rosa expired seven minutes later. No operation to separate them was attempted, as Frank, a brother, refused to permit one. Josefa was attacked by jaundice a day or two before and Rosa contracted the illness. Pneumonia supervened, and both became unconscious together. "If death comes to Josefa, I must go too," were Rosa's last words. The twins, who were 42 years of age, had distinct respiratory and heart systems, but only one stomach. An operation to separate them would have been attempted as a last resource. Josefa was married, and the mother of a boy of 12. Rosa was single. The original Siamese twins were two persons born about 1811, enjoying all the faculties and powers usually possessed by separate and distinct individuals, although united together by a short cartilaginous band at the pit of the stomach. They were named Chang and Eng, and were first discovered on the banks of the Siam River by an American, Mr. Robert Hunter, by whom they were taken to New York, where they were exhibited. Captain Coffin brought them to England, and their exhibition began in February, 1869. They returned to America and settled down on a farm, marrying two sisters. In January, 1874, they were both taken ill, and died within two hours of each other in America.

Josefa and Rosa Blazek, left a fortune estimated at $200,000, in addition to a large farm in Czechoslovakia. As they died intestate the property will be divided between the brother and Josefa's son. A legal battle is pending in New York based upon the query whether in the property sense the "Siamese" twins were really two legal individuals or one. Together they lived as an economic unit; together they died; and it is known that any operation to separate the bodies surgically would have resulted in immediate death to both. As to the heirs to the estate, which is valued at $40,000, the doctors dismiss the claims of Frank, the eleven-year-old boy reputed to be the son of Rosa, on the ground that the medical evidence indicates that she never bore a child. A jury must determine whether Franz is the son of Rosa, as claimed, or of both the twins, or someone else. If Franz is really the son of Rosa he will receive Rosa's half of the twins' estate, while the remainder goes to Frank Blazek, the reputed father, in Bohemia.

DUTCH SHIPBUILDING.

TRIPLE SCREW MOTOR SHIP TRIALS.

One of the most interesting types of modern motor vessels has just had her trial trips in Rotterdam. This is the triple screw motor vessel "Fu Kwang," built at the yard of the Rotterdam Drydock Company to the order of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., Ltd., London.

The vessel is to "Lloyd's 100 A.I. class, carrying petroleum in bulk, with freeboard, and is designed to carry 1,000 tons deadweight on a draft of 9 ft. 3 in. The main dimensions are:—Length B.P., 257 ft. 6 in.; breadth mid., 37 ft.; depth mid., 10 ft.; 'tween deck, 7 ft.; gross tonnage, 1,401 tons; net tonnage 513 tons. The vessel is divided into twelve watertight compartments, four of which are utilized as main tanks, and one as a fuel tank. The 'tween decks and fore hold are arranged for carrying petroleum in cases. There are four watertight sliding doors fitted to the 'tween deck spaces to facilitate the handling of the cases.

Accommodation for a native crew is provided under the forecastle, while the native drivers are housed under the poop. The European accommodation is provided on the poop deck. The propelling machinery consists of three motors, made by Ruston, Proctor and Co., Lincoln, England.

The main dimensions of the four cylinder motors are 420 mm. cylinder diameter, with 480 mm. stroke. The normal power is about 8 x 320 B.H.P., giving a speed of about 10½ knots. The vessel is also fitted with electric light. The lighting set consists of a dynamo, which can be driven either from an auxiliary motor or from a steam engine. For steam delivery to the auxiliary a donkey boiler is fitted of the Scotch type, fitted for burning oil.

THE BIGGEST VESSEL IN THE WORLD.

Not the least among the wonders of the new White Star Line steamer "Majestic," 56,000 tons, which recently left Southampton for New York on her maiden voyage is the vast outfit necessary for the largest vessel in the world. It may be mentioned that no less than 190,000 pieces of linen, &c., are required. Here are a few items: 77,000 towels, 15,000 pillow cases, 8,000 bed covers, 11,000 sheets, 10,500 blankets, 6,000 quilts, 5,600 aprons, 45,000 serviettes, and 10,000 tablecloths. The blankets alone weigh 17 tons. If these were hung in one continuous line starting from Southampton, at the end of the first 54 miles the towels alone would just be finished. Following on with another 6½ miles of pillow slips, then 10½ miles of bed covers, also a further 16 miles of sheets and 16 miles of blankets, we are still far from getting to the end of the line, as to complete we have 5½ miles of aprons, 8½ miles of quilts, 17 miles of serviettes, and 19 miles of tablecloths, the last piece being about 162 miles from the starting point—or somewhat more than the distance from Crewe to London.

The immense amount of china, earthenware and glassware required for the outfit also calls for special comment, amounting as it does to no less than 29,000 pieces of glassware, including such details as 3,000 tumblers, 1,500 water bottles, 7,000 wine and spirit glasses, 3,000 salt, pepper and mustard pots, &c. Whilst the quantity of glassware appears large, it pales into insignificance in comparison with the amount of china and earthenware. Of this, the huge total of 80,000 pieces will be placed on board, arriving alongside the steamer in 750 packages, comprising amongst other items, such details as 16,000 cups, 13,000 saucers, 30,000 plates, 10,000 cooking dishes, 2,700 jugs, 2,400 tea and coffee pots. It is computed that if the whole of the plates were placed side by side, they would approximately make a line 10,000 yards long. If they were piled one on top of the other, a column 1,200 feet high, or about three times the height of St. Paul's, would be raised. To hang the cups, a rack quite 1,750 yards would be required. If the washing up and drying of this immense quantity was done by hand, at two per minute, at the end of five months at 48 hours per week continuous working, the job would just be completed.

The question of electro-plate is also important. Of electro-plate and cutlery, no less than 50,000 pieces are required to furnish the steamer, and an extra quantity of at least 5,500 pieces go to equip the magnificent French Restaurant, as distinct from the ship. A special point may be taken of the 10,000 knives and forks with which it is necessary to equip the steamer. Other items which have to be provided are 3,000 beds, 2,700 pillows, and 1,500 bolsters.

MEMORIAL TO BRITISH MERCHANT SEAMEN.

Bristol has the unique honour of being the first to erect a memorial to British merchant seamen killed in the late war. That honour at last is being paid to those who contributed such a large share in the winning of the war is much appreciated by the council of the Mercantile Marine Service Association and the tribute to those of immortal memory finds a place in the Cathedral of Bristol.

The memorial was unveiled by Captain Lord Tredegar, R.N.V.R., the ceremony being conducted by the men of the British merchant service, 1914-18.

It is a magnificent gift, and the gratitude of the profession is extended to the donor by the council of the association.

EDITOR SHOOT EDITOR.

A controversy in the editorial columns of the Democrat and the Herald two Colorado papers, on the subject of prohibition, has had a fatal termination. An editorial appearing in the Herald in the course of which it was categorically stated that the Democrat was one of the few newspapers which opposed a "dry" amendment. This was paraded by the Democrat, the editor of the Democrat and on meeting Mr. W. L. Wood, the rival editor, he shot him dead with a revolver.

"TIGER MANDARIN'S" BODYGUARD.

CHOPS UP CONCUBINES.

The trial of Wan Yuan-ding, former bodyguard of Teon Chuan-huan, the "Tiger Mandarin" of Kwantung on nine charges of attempted murder commenced dramatically at the Shanghai Mixed Court on June 8. While Magistrate Yui (who sat with Mr. Blackburn) was reading Wan's confession, the prisoner threw up his hands, and said: "I have the 500 which was given me some years ago. You can shoot me. I am willing to die, but I ask the Court that this money, which is in the hands of one of my master's concubines, be handed over to my wife."

Accused was unrepentant. Mr. J. O. Anderson (prosecuting) recalled the now familiar incident in Mr. Hardon's garden. He stated that the prisoner ran amok with a chopper among his master's concubines and a number of amahs. He inflicted terrible injuries on two maidservants. Seven other occupants of the women's quarters were seriously injured. Some of the victims were still in hospital. One would have to undergo another month's treatment.

Det. Sgt. MacDermott said that when he arrived at the ex-mandarin's house all the injured women, with the exception of an amah had been taken to hospital. This woman was lying on the floor in a pool of blood with her arm almost severed from the body. In the meantime their alleged assailant had been arrested at his home after attempting to commit suicide. Subsequently, said Det. Sgt. MacDermott, he saw the prisoner at the police station. After receiving the usual caution, he made a full confession.

In answer to the Magistrate, Wan, a broad-shouldered Shantung man of six feet, stated emphatically that he got hold of a meat chopper to kill the woman because they had slandered him to his master. He had served Wan for over 20 years and was discharged about a month ago. When he left his master's employ he had been given a bonus.

FAMOUS COMPOSER INSANE.

The Epoch announces that the famous composer, Don Lorenzo Perosi who wrote "The Passion of Christ" and "The Resurrection of Lazarus," has gone completely mad. His mental debility dates from the accession of the new Pope Pius XI, and his condition is serious. The pathetic sight was witnessed in the public streets of the composer giving away his money in fifty and 100 lire notes. In this manner he distributed 70,000 lire.—Central News.

"I went there with the intention of killing the women. I did it because my wife had had no food for several days. When I tried to see my master on a previous occasion these women refused me admission. Prisoner then dwelt at length on the fact that one of the concubines was wrongfully possessed of money belonging to his wife."

Dr. Li, of the Shantung Road Hospital said he received an urgent request to attend the injured women, six of whom were still in hospital. In the room where he found them, they were lying on the floor, which was covered with blood. All the victims required immediate aid, otherwise they certainly would not have been alive to day. The fingers of one woman's left hand were chopped off.

Mr. Anderson—In your opinion did the nature of the wounds indicate that this man had intended to kill the women?

Witness did not give a direct reply. He repeated that had two of the women remained long unattended to he thought they must have succumbed to their injuries. At this stage the bench decided to adjourn the hearing for a week. The Assessor said that as counsel would probably ask for a death sentence, according to Chinese law, it was necessary to hear further evidence of the state of mind of the prisoner at the time of the trial.
